TACTICAL MEDICINE COURSES APPROVED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY

POST certified the 40-hour Tactical Emergency Medicine I and the 40-hour Tactical Medicine II courses presented by the International School of Tactical Medicine (ISTM) and the Palm Springs Police Department. The Department of Homeland Security, Office of Grants and Training (G&T) completed comprehensive reviews of both courses and approved the courses as meeting or exceeding federal training standards. This approval allows agencies to use federal homeland security funds to pay for tuition, travel, per diem, and overtime.

The courses are being presented on October 23 - November 3, 2006, at the Palms Springs Police Department. A total of 50 students from federal, state, local, and private emergency services providers from California, North and South Carolina, Colorado, Arizona, Missouri, Michigan, Wisconsin, New Mexico, Ohio, Nevada, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Georgia, Canada, and Ireland are attending the 80 hours of training.

All instructors are board-certified physicians who have law enforcement experience and who regularly work with agency SWAT or Emergency Response Team personnel. The students participate in multiple tactical and medical scenarios during this intensive training course. Since its inception in 1996, over 1000 students from 500 different agencies nationwide have participated in this training.

Information can be obtained at www.tacticalmedicine.com. Questions about the Tactical Medicine courses may be directed to Senior Consultant Donald Lane, Homeland Security Training Program, at (916) 227-3916 or donald.lane@post.ca.gov.

MANAGING CRITICAL INCIDENTS (SEMS & NIMS) TELECOURSE RELEASED

On October 26, 2006, the Managing Critical Incidents (SEMS & NIMS) telecourse was completed and was distributed statewide. This telecourse was developed by POST in collaboration with the Governor's Office of Emergency Services (OES), the Office of Homeland Security (OHS), the State Fire Marshal's Office (SFM), and the Emergency Medical Services Authority (EMSA).

The telecourse is designed to familiarize officers on the use of the California Standardized Emergency Management System (SEMS) and the National Incident Management System (NIMS). The telecourse illustrates the effective use of the Incident Command System (ICS) in major critical incidents that have occurred in California. The telecourse also features a panel discussion on critical incident management and the benefits and importance of using the ICS as part of the daily response to incidents.

The scenarios detail the CHP response to Hurricane Katrina, the Cedar Fire in San Diego, the MetroLink disaster in Glendale, and the Alaska Air crash in Ventura County. In addition, the telecourse addresses the use of ICS for planned events such as the Rose Parade in Pasadena and the Ronald Reagan funeral in Simi Valley. This telecourse is designed to augment regular training in SEMS & NIMS and for use by instructors to illustrate the ICS.

Questions about the Managing Critical Incidents (SEMS & NIMS) telecourse may be directed to Special Consultant Ken Whitman, Homeland Security Training Program, at (916) 227-5561 or ken.whitman@post.ca.gov.

BASIC COURSE TEST ALIGNMENT PROJECT CONTINUES

POST staff is committed to an ongoing project to review and evaluate the written tests in the Basic Course so the content of the tests is fully aligned with the content of student workbooks. One workbook is available for each of the 41 learning domains, and student mastery is assessed with written tests in 25 of these domains. Testing staff has implemented a process through which all Basic Course tests are regularly reviewed and revised in conjunction with the revision of the student workbooks. This process includes an evaluation of the test-passing standards for each domain.

Through October 2006, staff has reviewed and aligned the tests in the following three domains: LD #07 (Crimes Against Persons), LD #26 (Unusual Occurrences), and LD #40 (Weapons Violations).

The test items developed by staff and subject matter experts for the new Learning Domain #43: Weapons of Mass Destruction, will be reviewed and test forms developed at the Regular Basic Course Review Panel meeting in December 2006.

Questions about the Basic Course Test Alignment Project may be directed to Test Validation and Development Specialist Diane Hrepich, Standards and Evaluation Services Bureau, at (916) 227-4831 or diane.hrepich@post.ca.gov.

DEVELOPMENT OF SEARCH WARRANT TRAINING TOOL PROTOTYPE

In October, the development of a prototype for the search warrant training tool began. Three focus groups provided input on the features and functions of the tool.

Investigators and deputy district attorneys attended the focus groups and identified the following desired features: 1) it should provide search warrant information on various crimes, in various locations, 2) it should allow officers to develop customized search warrant content specific to their affidavit, 3) it must accommodate Word Perfect and MS Word, 4) it must be easy to maintain and update as laws change or more current information becomes available, and 5) it should be a “smart tool” that can check to ensure that rules were followed and that correct formatting and proper fact patterns were used.

Questions about the Search Warrant Training Tool may be directed to Supervisor Jan Myyra, Learning Technology Resource Center, at (916) 227-4550 or jan.myyra@post.ca.gov.

POST STAFF ATTEND INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF CHIEFS OF POLICE CONFERENCE

In October, POST staff attended the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) Conference in Boston, MA. The conference focused on “Law Enforcement Education and Technology.” Thousands of law enforcement executives and trainers attended from all over the world. The conference featured a wide variety of meetings, workshops, and networking events, as well as a vendor trade show.

Assistant Executive Director Mike DiMiceli represented Executive Director Kenneth J. O’Brien at meetings of the International Association of Directors of Law Enforcement Standards and Training (IADLEST). POST Selection Consultant Shelley Spilberg, Ph.D., gave a pre-conference presentation describing ongoing POST work on the Background Investigation and Psychological Suitability Evaluations to a Police Psychological Services Users Group and attended meetings of the Law Enforcement Psychological Track. Senior Law Enforcement Consultant Bryon Gustafson attended sessions covering electronic weapons, use of force, and high-profile incidents.

California was represented both by presenters and attendees. East Palo Alto Police Chief Ronald Davis was a member of a panel discussion entitled “A Fundamental Duty: Protecting and Promoting Civil Rights.” Fremont Police Chief Craig Steckler represents California on the IACP Executive Board as a Vice President-At-Large. General Assembly speakers included U.S. Attorney General Alberto Gonzales and FBI Director Robert Mueller.

Questions about the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) Conference may be directed to Senior Consultant Bryon G. Gustafson, Training Program Services Bureau, at (916) 227-3902 or bryon.gustafson@post.ca.gov.

POST COLLABORATES ON PRE-ACADEMY FITNESS STANDARDS

POST Senior Personnel Selection Consultant Michael Catlin, Standards and Evaluation Services Bureau, traveled to Burien, Washington, to meet with counterparts at the Washington State Criminal Justice Training Commission. The purpose of this meeting was to continue collaboration in the area of physical fitness standards development and validation. Both California and Washington have similar projects to develop physical fitness tests and standards to be used to select students who are better prepared for physically demanding elements of academy training.

This opportunity developed as a result of the Western Region of the International Association of Directors of Law Enforcement Standards and Training (IADLEST) workshop held in Sacramento to begin regional collaboration on the development of a pre-academy physical fitness assessment process.

Questions about the POST Pre-Academy Physical Fitness Standards Project may be directed to Senior Personnel Selection Consultant Michael Catlin, Standards and Evaluation Services Bureau, at (916) 227-2570 or michael.catlin@post.ca.gov.

FIRST AID/CPR CURRICULUM UPDATE BEGINS

On October 4, 2006, staff met with first aid/CPR instructors and Emergency Medical Services Authority (EMSA) to review the POST First Aid/CPR curriculum. This meeting began the process to update the curriculum to incorporate recent changes made by the American Red Cross and the American Heart Association. In addition to updating the curriculum, POST will convert the course for Internet delivery through the POST Learning Portal.

This course has been a very popular and effective way of satisfying the recurring training requirement for first aid/CPR. The existing First Aid/CPR CD-based training course is interactive and self-paced; the Internet version will retain the same interactivity.

Questions about the First Aid/CPR curriculum update may be directed to Senior Instructional Designer Sven Blomberg, Learning Technology Resource Center, at (916) 227-4547 or sven.blomberg@post.ca.gov.

ON-LINE VERSION OF LAW ENFORCEMENT RESPONSE TO TERRORISM (LERT) TO BE LAUNCHED

The on-line version of the Law Enforcement Response to Terrorism (LERT) course will be available on the POST Learning Portal. This course meets the requirements of SB 1350 and is in full compliance with training mandates in Penal Code §13519.12. It is approved by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, Office of Grants and Training (G&T).

Since the course will reside on POST's Learning Portal, it will be available to all of California law enforcement seven days a week, 24-hours a day. This is especially beneficial to those agencies that may not have easy access to the classroom-based version of the training.

Individuals completing the course will receive 8 hours of CPT credit. The POST Learning Portal may be accessed at www.lp.post.ca.gov.

Questions about the Law Enforcement Response to Terrorism (LERT) course on the POST Learning Portal may be directed to Supervisor Jan Myyra, Learning Technology Resource Center, at (916) 227-4550 or jan.myyra@post.ca.gov.

DETECTIVE JOB ANALYSIS SURVEY COMPLETED

In October, DLS Group of Colorado partnered with POST to conduct a three-week survey of investigators as part of a comprehensive job analysis of the detective function. The on-line survey represented the second phase of data collection. Previously, four subject matter expert focus groups were convened and the data collected was used to develop the survey instrument.

The survey sample was comprised of 452 detectives from agencies statewide. A sampling technique was employed for data collection that enables generalization of the findings to the total population of investigators across California.

Findings from the survey have been compiled by agency size and by detective experience. Preliminary review of the survey data indicates a high level of congruence with the tasks identified by the focus groups.

POST and DLS will continue working together to:

- Complete the analysis of the survey data
- Report survey findings and recommendations
- Formulate a curriculum revision plan

Questions about the Detective Job Analysis may be directed to Senior Consultant Mike Hooper, Training Program Services Bureau, at (916) 227-3912 or mike.hooper@post.ca.gov.

BACKGROUND WORKSHOPS BEGIN

POST staff from the Training Delivery and Compliance Services Bureau and the Standards and Evaluation Services Bureau are presenting a series of statewide workshops to discuss the new Background Investigation Manual. The presentation addresses the purpose of background investigations, recent changes in State law and POST regulations, and the new background file dividers POST is making available to background investigators.

In the workshop, the relevance of the recently-revised Personal History Statement for Peace Officers and the newly-adopted Personal History Statement for Dispatchers are discussed. Considerable time is devoted to demonstrating how to utilize the new Background Investigation Manual, including how the new dividers will assist agencies in the organization of complex background material. Also discussed are changes to expect in the recently-updated Background Investigators Course.

Questions about the Background Workshops may be directed to Bureau Chief Ed Pecinovsky, Training Delivery and Compliance Services Bureau, at (916) 227-4874 or ed.pecinovsky@post.ca.gov.

GRADUATION OF MASTER INSTRUCTOR DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM CLASS 20

During October, Class 20 of the Master Instructor Development Program (MIDP) graduated in San Diego. There were 13 graduates of this class. The goal of the MIDP is to prepare a cadre of highly-skilled trainers capable of developing and presenting effective training. Upon graduation, they are able to provide assistance to regional academies, law enforcement agencies, and other instructors. The content of the MIDP covers adult learning concepts, instructional design and course development, enhanced subject matter expertise, research methods, formats and publication, emerging instructional technology, and coaching and mentoring. The program lasts for one year and involves 28 training days. The MIDP instructors are a valuable resource to POST and to the law enforcement community.

When these students graduated, they completed a course project which includes the development and presentation of a POST-certified training course. The courses developed by the graduates include: Communications During a Multi-Agency Critical Event, Employee Relations Applied Leadership, Computer Aided Diagramming of Collisions and Crime Scenes, Formal OJT for Dispatchers, Pre-Academy Training Program, Regional 9-1-1 In-House Radio Dispatch Academy, Forensic Science for Law Enforcement Managers, Quality Assurance for Law Enforcement Communications, Investigation of Human Trafficking, Death Notification, Chemical Agents Instructor Course, and Police Crisis Intervention Train the Trainer.

Questions about the Master Instructor Development Program (MIDP) graduation may be directed to Bureau Chief Alan Deal, Training Program Services Bureau, at (916) 227-2820 or alan.deal@post.ca.gov.

POST DEVELOPING PACKAGE FOR CUSTODIAL TRAINING

In October, POST began work on a video training package on the topic of prisoner security. The California Code of Regulations Title 15 outlines specific guidelines for developing policies and procedures related to adults and minors who are confined in jails, detention centers, and court holding facilities.

Recognizing a training need in this area, POST released in February 2006 a two-hour “Custodial and Courtroom Security” Telecourse which includes segments on courtroom security, conducting searches, personnel and planning strategies, media considerations, and best practices. A follow-up Telecourse, tentatively titled “Prisoner Security,” is in development and will examine the area of custody and care of prisoners. Topics will include use of force on restrained persons, maintaining security over high-risk prisoners during transportation, extraction techniques, preventing escapes, prisoner weapons, and separation and medical treatment of at-risk prisoners.

Both telecourses will be packaged with a five-hour Line-Up Training Program and will be certified for nine hours of Continuing Professional Training (CPT) credit. The video training package will be available in spring 2007.

Questions about the Custodial Training video package may be directed to Senior Law Enforcement Consultant Jody Buna, Training Program Services Bureau, at (916) 227-4896 or jody.buna@post.ca.gov.

ALLAN HANCOCK ACADEMY REVIEWED

On October 19-20, 2006, a Basic Course Certification Review was conducted at the Allan Hancock College Basic Law Enforcement Academy. The Certification Review Team consisted of Bureau Chief Ed Pecinovsky, Chair of the Team, Chief of Police John DeRohan of the Morro Bay Police Department, and E.J. Pellegrino, Director of the Fullerton College Basic Law Enforcement Academy.

Basic Course Certification Reviews cover Course Administration, Course Quality and Delivery, Facilities, Equipment, and Academy Safety Policies. During the review, the Inspection Team visits the areas where basic training takes place, inspects the academy files and records, verifies that POST Regulations are being followed, and interviews the recruits.

The Inspection Team identified areas in which improvements could be made and areas in which the academy was exemplary. The team met with College President Dr. Jose Ortiz at the conclusion of the inspection to discuss the inspection and the team's findings.

Questions about the Basic Course Certification Review may be directed to Bureau Chief Ed Pecinovsky, Training Delivery and Compliance Services Bureau, at (916) 227-4874 or ed.pecinovsky@post.ca.gov.
